

Stative Verbs – Practice 2

Present Perfect Progressive and Present Perfect

A Dinner Party

We're still at the same dinner party you read about in Stative Verbs – Practice 1. These sentences will look familiar to you, but something is different. Jane has been at the dinner party all evening, and she's still there. She's talking to a friend on the phone and describing the party. She's telling what has been happening.

Look at all the sentences Jane uses to describe the dinner party. Decide if the verbs should be in the present perfect progressive tense or the present perfect tense. Remember to decide whether the verb is expressing a state or an action. This will help you choose the best verb tense.

1. It's so noisy here! Everyone (a) has been talking (b) has talked to each other all night.
2. Mary got bored, so she (a) has been looking (b) has looked out the window.
3. Bob (a) has been having (b) has had a hat on all night. Why won't he take it off?
4. The food has been great! There have been many different dishes to choose from because some people (a) haven't been liking (b) haven't liked some dishes.
5. Some of the guests (a) have been preferring (b) have preferred not to dance.
6. Jodie has not been having a good time. Poor Jodie! He (a) has been thinking (b) has thought about his TOEFL test tomorrow.
